

News from the Turn Lyme Green HQ.

Local Food: The Turn Lyme Green "Local Food Fayre"

What a great response we had to the first TLG Local Food Fayre in Lyme Regis on the 29th of November. The stallholders had a busy morning as more than 200 people passed through the hall. Information and freebies were available from Kirsten of 'Love Food Hate Waste' and our very own TLG stand. Then the highlight was the local food demonstrations, by Pam Corbyn showing her jams and curds, Aiden Chapman (of the Town Mill Bakery) showing quick and easy savoury bread recipes and Tom Wenclewski (from the Alexandra Hotel) demonstrating a delicious fish-soup.

Thanks to everyone who helped on the stalls, all those who participated and supported the day. The encouragement and patronage of our terrific local food supplies has never been more important and TLG hopes to have more initiatives in this space in 2009. See report here.

Xmas Tree Festival.

Every day this week at the Baptist Church Hall in Lyme Regis visit the super Christmas tree Festival. TLG's tree (kindly made by Hugh Dunford-Wood was unique last year, and 2008 is no different. Spare yourself 20 minutes when you are in Broad Street and visit - admission is free! It is delightful and I guarantee that the Turn Lyme Green tree will amaze you (again).

Pride Of Place - Community Art.

The chosen artist for Turn Lyme Green's Community Art Project is Alex Murdin, we are looking forwards to our first meeting with Alex and planning our Arts project for 2009. If you would like to become involved in this process, please contact Giles Frampton.

Turn Lyme Green - Saving Energy

We have had a policy of encouraging low-energy lighting in homes - from the very first days of TLG. This has included free low-energy bulb giveaways to elderly and via Lyme's churches. We now have a challenge to step it up a gear and replace a thousand bulbs locally. If you have ideas as to where these could go - and be in use obviously - then let us know!

Next Turn Lyme Green Meeting is this Wed 10th Dec at 7pm in the LRDT Office. This will be a short meeting - with everyone looking forwards to a well-deserved Christmas Break!

Check the Website.

As always, there is lots more information on the website, and a chance to leave your feedback on the items raised in this month's newsletter.

Hope to see you at the meeting !

Regards
Mark Jenkin
Turn Lyme Green